Chamber executive needs president and secretary

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is still looking for a president and a secretary, following last week's poorly attended Annual General Meeting.

Only a dozen members were among those present, and no nominations were put forward for either position.

New Toronto Dominion Bank manager Gloria Pundick was elected Vice President and John Vandenberg was elected Treasurer, both by acclamation. Further attempts to complete the executive lineup will be made at the February 21 meeting. Standing committees will also be determined at that time.

Ms Pundick was introduced by Iain Strump, Senior Vice President of the TD Bank, who said Elk Point's new manager has over thirty years of experience with the bank. Regional Manager Lorne Anderson was also in attendance.

Members voted to leave membership fees at current levels again this year. Meeting times will again be advertised in the Review.

Outgoing president Victor Stepa gave his year-end report, and Sid Holthe reported on the busy year experienced by the Community Health Council Steering Committee.

Guest speaker for the evening was Walter deSilva, who demonstrated the Business Attraction Information System (BAIS). BAIS is a provincial government initiative which is "the next step up from the Marketplace program" and is used to market Alberta communities, foster regional partnerships and provide information to new and existing businesses. It is accessible through the City of Edmonton, through direct dial-up or through the Internet.

For business promotion, BAIS contains directories of local products and services in communities across the province. It identifies local suppliers of products and services which are currently purchased outside the community or the province and "can sell as well as buy," deSilva said.

For marketing, BAIS can be used to produce brochures, community and regional profiles. It gives users "an enhanced ability to respond to business inquiries," and has standardized format to store community information.

Egg-cellent! First annual Egg Race a great success

The Great Canadian Egg Race came to Elk Point this past Sunday, as the highlight of an afternoon of fun which also included a Novice hockey game, paper airplane races, shoot-to-win competitions, an Egg Race calcutta and a highly competitive game between Elk Point Thunder Midgets and the Thunder Alumni.

Both adults and youngsters enjoyed the Airplane Races, with Keith Campbell placing first, BJ Tucker second and Ed Babenek third in the adult division, and Joel Leckie first, Ryan Ockerman second and Catherine Campbell third in the children's competition.

Excitement mounted throughout the Thunder game, as they edged out the Alumni with a goal in the final 20 seconds of play, and the Egg Race entrants prepared for action.

It takes a special kind of conveyance to haul a fragile raw egg safely across the ice surface while being propelled by a rubber band, and many designs and technologies were employed in creating these innovative craft. Everything from Meccano to corrugated cardboard was used in construction, with varying success. The winning entry, after all eight machines had sped, slid and chugged to their potential, was the creation of Jody Lecopoy. Called the "Egg-O-Matic" and sponsored by Hahn Welding, this unit was built from two discard-

ON ATTITUDES

The longer I live, the more I realize the impact of attitude on life. Attitude, to me, is more important than facts. It is more important than the past, than education, than money, than circumstances, than failures, than successes, than what other people think or say or do. It is more important than appearance, giftedness or skill. It will make or break a company... a church... a home. The remarkable thing is we have a choice every day regarding the Attitude we will embrace for that day. We cannot change our past. We cannot change the inevitable. The only thing we can do is play on the one string we have, and that is our Attitude. I am convinced that life is 10% what happens to me and 90% how I react to it. And so it is with your. We are in charge of our Attitudes.

NEED LEGAL GUIDANCE?

As you may be aware, Dial-A-Law is a public service of Calgary Legal Guidance. Dial-A-Law offers taped information on 144 legal subjects 24 hours a day by touch-tone telephone. The service is accessible through Alberta on a 1-800 toll-free line. The main objective of Dial-A-Law is to ensure that all Albertans have access to basic legal information. Brochures with more information are available at the FCSS office or call 1-800-332-1091.

FEELING OVERWHELMED?

Many people today are suffering from stress overload rather than living with a clear understanding of their own choice and potential. To successfully deal with stress means to change a lifestyle in such a way that you will be grateful for the opportunities rather than overwhelmed by the problems that you encounter.

One of the first ways to reduce stress is to realize that "filmstrip families" where everything is perfect do not exist. Rather, most of us have lives and families that are scotch-taped together. Stress causes, contributes to, and also exacerbates all social, physical and personal problems.

Here are some comments on stress and things related to stress:

1. Many people who suffer from stress are over-achievers. At times we resent or may feel burdened by demands, but do we really mean it? Many people like living on the edge. Many will burn out, but most buy the lifestyle. Those who do, need to accept at this point that it is a lifestyle. It is a choice and we constantly feed it.

2. "Workaholism" is the addiction of choice of those who feel unworthy. It is inter-generational. Workaholics have learned to give work precedence over themselves, their families and their values. If every day is overloaded, you have created a lifestyle. You have not worked for peace and serenity in your home and in your life.

3. Avoid manipulation. Manipulation is done from a powerless position. It is not an honest position. Learn to communicate instead of manipulate. Communicate honestly and directly. Know what you want and ask for it. State your feelings directly and expect to be heard and respected.

4. If you don't believe in yourself, neither will anyone else.

5. Learn to accept criticism. The minute we cry, we stop communication, we stop listening. Crying means we don't have to change. It is better to learn our own boundaries by empowering ourselves to do things we haven't done before.

6. Depression is self-contained anger against ourselves.

Despite the stresses of life, we can have a real feeling of abundance in our lives, and real opportunities to do many things. Next week we'll look at a collection of 15 stress-controlling ideas.

Families are to love

Tomorrow's festival of love, Valentine's Day, is a good forerunner to next Monday's holiday, Family Day. Love is a major part of being a family.

There are many ways to show that love, and very few of them involve extravagant gifts which we cannot possibly afford.

In this hectic world, time spent with one's family may also be scarce at times and hard to come by, but is a valuable gift, whether given to a spouse, child, parent or sibling.

Sharing a few minutes for quiet conversation, a bedtime story, a walk, even a phone call, is something we can all afford. This giving of yourself means more to the recipient than a dozen roses, a diamond bracelet, or a box of chocolates, because only you can give it. It won't wilt in a few days, it doesn't have to be kept in a safety deposit box, and it contains no calories.

Give your family a special gift this Family Day -- your time. They deserve the best, don't they?

Nutrition notes

Nutrition on the go!

By Shelley Miller-Hertes, RD
Elk Point Health Centre

Most of us lead busy lives! This lack of time in our lives means making healthy food choices is sometimes difficult. Here are a few suggestions for quick, on-the-go-type foods.

Eating small meals or snacks throughout the day can bring nutrition into a busy life. Have "grazing foods" available for hectic days when you don't have time for a sit-down meal. Grazing foods include: bagels, bran muffins, lowfat crackers, yogurt, pita bread, dried fruit, fresh fruit, fig bars, hard cooked eggs, raw vegetables, cheese, juice, cold cereal, rice cakes, cereal bars, and milk.

Planning a meeting? Some healthy food choices to offer are small muffins, bagels, scones, tea biscuits, fresh fruit, juice, or milk; skip the doughnuts, cookies and monster muffins.

On the road again? Avoid the chips, fried foods, large burgers and those salads loaded with dressing. Instead, go for a small plain burger, crackers and cheese, juice, turkey sandwiches, or pizza with ham and vegetables.

Snacking or grazing can be nutritious and interesting. Just plan ahead and fill your cupboards and lunchbag with nutritious munchies!

Drug Free and Proud Of It!

Over 50 participants (above) were honored last week by the Elks and OORP for their efforts in the "Drug Free and Proud of It" poster contest. Each grade 4 and 5 student who entered a poster received $2, while the three top poster artists received major prizes. At right, OORP representative Niki Riemer presented $50 to first prize winner Wendy Smereka, $30 to Mark Kulczycki, second, and $20 to Jason Kalynchuk, third.

Faith

By Rev. Sam Donaldson
Elk Point Community Church

Another Valentine's Day has arrived. We have bought cards or candies, or booked a table at our favorite restaurant. On February 14 that special person in our lives will receive these special tokens of our love for them.

But what is the origin of Valentine's Day? Who was this man Valentine? Is this celebration rooted in some pagan fertility cult or is it grounded in Christian tradition?

The truth of the matter is, we don't know much about the history of the event, or the man himself. There are several different traditions about the source and the person. There is one account that I like and I will share it with you.

It is a historical fact that on the 14th of February, 269 A.D.

St. Valentine's Day

two Christian men named Valentine were martyred for their faith in, and heroic stand for, Christ.

One refused to worship the Roman gods and especially to worship the Emperor, Claudius II. Many Romans at that time believed the problems that the empire was facing were due to a neglect of the Roman gods. This disrespect for the gods was to show a lack of regard for the welfare of the state. This had to be punished. Refusal to worship the Emperor was regarded as an out-and-out act of treason. This could not be tolerated. The offender was given a choice: recantation or death. Valentine's love for God and Jesus was greater than his fear of death. He died for his God and his faith.

On that same day, the other Valentine was executed because he disobeyed the Emperor's edict, not to perform marriages. Young Christian sweethearts wanted to marry. They had the right to Christian marriage. Valentine would not permit the Emperor to intrude on the liberty of people to marry.

Was it one of these men who became the Patron Saint of Lovers? Was it one of the other Valentines of history? We don't know for sure. But we do celebrate the spirit of these men, a spirit whose motivating factor, or force, was LOVE. Love for God and love for people. They fulfilled the two great commandments: love for God and love for neighbors. As we celebrate Valentine's Day, let us evidence this spirit of love. Let us fulfill the two great commandments and as a result, fulfill the Royal law.

Exchange visitor comes from Down Under

By Kelly Oszust
F. G. Miller Student Journalist

F. G. Miller is proud to host yet another exchange student. Her name is Vanessa Johnston, and she comes to us from Australia. She arrived in Canada on January 18th and is staying for a year.

Vanessa is fifteen years old and is in Grade 10. She comes from a family of four, and she has one sister. In Australia she attended Warners Bay High, which has 176,000 students. F. G. Miller must be quite a change, having approximately 300 students.

While she is in Canada she is staying at the Wilcox home, and she enjoys living there. I asked her what she thought of the extremely cold weather and she replied, "I like it. It's a change from the hot weather."

Before she came to Canada, Vanessa spent one week in Los Angeles. She said she didn't like it because it was too dirty and crowded. While she has been in Canada she has gone to West Edmonton Mall and St. Paul. Some of Vanessa's hobbies include tennis, net ball and sight seeing.

Third annual Talent Quest coming up

On March 9, the F. G. Miller High School in Elk Point will host a preliminary show in the Edmonton Northlands Youth Talent Quest. The winner and runner-up from this show will be invited to compete at Edmonton Klondike Days in July.

The competition is open to individuals and groups (up to 4 per group) who wish to demonstrate their talents in the vocal, musical, dance and variety categories. Contestants must be between 13 and 21 years of age at the time of the Klondike Days finals. Between 10 and 20 entries will compete for the first prize of $100 and second prize of $50. Last year, Travis Pankiw of Elk Point and Nathan Brown of Dewberry won these prizes and performed in the semi-finals in Edmonton. Each entry will also be eligible for a number of other prizes.

The audience will be treated to a display of the talents of these young people, and will also be eligible for a number of door prizes.

Red Cross launches 1996 campaign

'Friends for Life...' That's the message volunteer canvassers are bringing to residents of Elk Point and district, starting March 1 as the Red Cross Society kicks off its annual door-to-door fundraising campaign.

"In 1996, Red Cross celebrates its 100th year of providing life-saving services to Canadians," says Jean McGinnis, local campaign coordinator. "'Friends for Life' symbolizes both the purpose of Red Cross work and its commitment to Canadians."

Mrs. McGinnis says this year's fundraising target for Elk Point and district is $8700. All donations will be used to support delivery of Red Cross programs in Alberta that help those displaced by disasters, help prevent drowning and injuries, and alleviate human suffering.

During the past year, trained Red Cross responders helped more than 3000 Albertans in the critical hours after they had survived personal emergencies such as fire or flooding.

The Red Cross in Alberta

trains some 200,000 people per year in water safety. These training programs are designed to prevent drowning—the second leading cause of death among Canadians under the age of 24.

To help prevent injuries — the leading cause of death for Canadians between the ages of one and 44 — the Society trained more than 17,000 Albertans last year through Standard First Aid, Emergency

First Aid, Heartsaver, Peoplesaver, Babysitter and Infant/Child CPR programs. The Society also completed more than 3000 initiatives to promote injury prevention.

"To continue these vital services, we really need the support of Albertans," says Mrs. McGinnis. "No matter how large or small, donations to the Red Cross make a significant difference in our communities."

What's news at the library?

Catching up on great new books for all ages!

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

The books are coming in faster than I can write about them. Here are some fairly recent arrivals:

Starting from Scratch by Lynn Johnston is a collection of For Better or Worse comic strips dealing with everything from Michael going away to university to the death of Farley, the family dog.

The Authoritative Calvin and Hobbes by Bill Watterson is perfect for those who miss their daily fix of Calvin and his tiger.

New in nonfiction:

Let's Eat by Susan Powder is a collection of Susan's favorite fast, delicious, low-fat, great-tasting recipes in a book that stays open flat to the page you want.

Inside Edge: a Revealing Journey into the Secret World of Figure Skating by Washington Post sports writer Christine Brennan follows the lives of some of the world's top skaters during a season on the skating circuit and reveals how and why judges judge the way they do.

Books on tape:

The Yearling by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings and read by Peter Strauss is the classic Pulitzer Prize-winning novel of a young boy and his pet fawn.

Boundless Energy by

Deepak Chopra presents a highly focused plan for unlocking the mind's energizing potential and restoring energy and vitality to your life.

Juvenile fiction:

In The Bookstore Mouse by Peggy Christian with illustrations by Gary A. Lippincott, a mouse who lives in a bookstore slips through the words into a story that is the greatest adventure of his life.

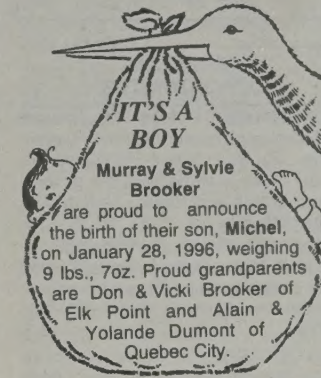

Picture books:

From Far Away by Robert Munsch and Saioussan Askar with pictures by Michael Marchenko is a story based on Saioussan's own experiences in school as a recent immigrant from Lebanon.

In The Snow Angel by Angela McAllister and Claire Fletcher, Elsa makes a snow angel and her best friend, Jack, wishes that the angel was real.

That night, Jack sees a shadow in the garden. Is it the angel?

The House that Drac Built by Judy Sierra with pictures by Will Hillenbrand is a spookier version of the classic children's poem "The House that Jack Built" with bats, cats and things that go bump in the night. A child pleaser at storytime.

Thunder defeats Alumni

Friday night's Thunder game against Lloydminster was cancelled due to bad weather and will be rescheduled at a later date.

Sunday afternoon the Thunder took to the ice against the Thunder Alumni in the warmup to the Great Canadian Egg Race. This turned out to be a very close game that saw the Thunder defeat the Alumni 8-7.

Off the opening faceoff, Travis Pankiw scored his first of 4 goals for the Alumni and it looked like the young team might have trouble with the more experienced veterans, but Jordan Bassett's first of 2 goals for the Thunder soon tied it up. After the first period the score was 3-3.

In the second period the Thunder opened things up, scoring 4 goals and making the score 7-4 after 40 minutes. The 3-man shootout between periods was won 2-1 by the Alumni.

In the third period, the alumni scored 3 unanswered goals to tie the game, but with only 20 seconds left on the clock Thunder's Jeff Hughes scored the winner. Other Thunder scorers were James Babenek,(2), Kristin Holthe, Ferlin Quinney and Marty Bendixen. The entertaining game saw outstanding goaltending by the tag team of BJ Tucker and Geoff Mehedyen.

A busy week is coming up for the Thunder, who take to the ice Thursday night against Saddle Lake Warriors in their first Provincial game. On Friday night the Thunder host Grand Centre. On Saturday, they travel to Consort to play another important league game.
